  - keep up to date with our newspapers and printed journals
  - access a vast range of electronic journals, electronic information databases and e-books
  - use our Library catalogue and discovery service to find the resources you need
  - request resources from other Libraries

- IT facilities - we have the technology to help you succeed!
  - PCs in open areas of the Learning Centre
  - laptops for loan from the Helpdesk
  - Wi-Fi throughout the building
  - plug in points for your own devices
  - combined printers/copiers

Introducing the Andrew Kean Learning Centre

The Andrew Kean Learning Centre has been designed so that if you are delivering or taking part in timetabled teaching, working with others on a project or working on your own, you have a variety of different flexible spaces to meet your needs. These include: a cafe area, social learning space, group study rooms and silent study zones, as well as collaboration & IT rooms.

The Learning Centre is home to the Library, where you can get help with finding information and resources, and also to IT Services, who support and run the IT facilities on campus. Inside the building you’ll also find:

- New teaching rooms
- 17 bookable group study rooms
- Informal study areas
- 300+ PCs and printing photocopying facilities
- A café
